Our Sustainability Approach

Helping people feel at home, no matter where they are, has been Curver's primary objective since the very beginning. But home is about far more than our own private space – it is the home we all share on this planet. Just like our private homes, there is simply no other home like it!

So, when we consider ways of helping you truly feel at home, we always keep in mind that we cannot improve one home at the expense of the other. As we strive to brighten your private homes with smart, stylish designs and comfortable conveniences, we are also working to protect humanity's home by safeguarding our natural world.

We Cover 3 Main Sustainability Aspects

Environmental

Positive Impact Through Materials

Plastic, when responsibly produced and recycled, offers significant environmental benefits. It is lightweight, durable, and reduces the carbon footprint in transportation compared to heavier materials. By using recycled plastic, we reduce waste, conserve natural resources, and lower energy consumption, all while maintaining product quality. Recycled plastic helps close the loop in the circular economy, supporting sustainability and reducing our impact on the planet.

Climate Action

We consistently work to adopt energy-efficient measures at all stages of our operations. With further transition to renewable energy sources planned in the coming years, as well as ongoing operational improvements, we expect to achieve reduction of over 25% of GHG emissions from the production of our products.

Zero Waste

Zero waste to landfill is a key ambition across all Keter factories and we have developed waste segregation and reuse and recycling options in all our facilities.

Governance

Transparency

Since 2019, we have been sharing a detailed ESG report according to global standards (GRI, SASB) with the public, showcasing our commitment to sustainability. Our factories hold ISO certifications, and we diligently adhere to all required regulations, reflecting our dedication to responsible and transparent practices.

Social

Volunteering

We care deeply about giving back to our local communities, showing our respect in both words and deeds. Therefore, engaging with the community and volunteering to help people in need has become an integral part of our teams' daily activities.

Inclusivity

We value diverse skills, experiences, and perspectives, and believe in treating everyone fairly, regardless of gender, race, religion, age, or sexual orientation. It is a matter of pride that both our executive meetings and our production floor clearly reflect our commitment to inclusive hiring practices.

Better products for better places

We use Post-Industrial and Post-Consumer plastic waste that have been carefully collected, sorted and processed for our innovative recycled ranges.

We offer food keepers and bento that allow the end-consumers to replace disposable plastics and packaging's by reusable ones.
